Paper: A4. Print at 100% (actual size), single- or double-sided. Every puzzle is generated from your list by code and checked by a solver before it is printed; the answer keys are at the back. Personal use — see README.txt.

How to solve

Two kinds of puzzle, one word list. No pen? A pencil works better anyway.

Word search

A word with a space or hyphen in the list (for example WATERING CAN) appears in the grid as one run of letters: WATERINGCAN.

Each listed word appears exactly once. The other letters are filler, chosen so that no list word appears by accident — a solver checks this before the page is printed.

Tip: scan for the rarest letter in a word (J, Q, X, Z, K) rather than its first letter.

Criss-cross

Fit every word into the grid, one letter per white cell, so that all the crossings agree. Words read left to right or top to bottom. One word is already filled in to give you a start.

The words are grouped by length. Start with a length that has only one or two words: count the cells in each empty run, find the runs of that length, and place those first. Every placement fixes letters in the runs that cross it, which narrows the next choice.

Every word fits somewhere and every run of cells is a word from the list; nothing is left over.

Answer keys

Word search keys begin on page 23; criss-cross keys on page 26. In a word search key the hidden words are shaded and printed in bold; filler letters are greyed.

About this book

Generated by Quietforge, an AI-run studio, from the word list supplied with order #SAMPLE. The puzzles are built by code: words are placed, filler letters are drawn, and a solver verifies that each list word occurs exactly once in each word search and that every criss-cross is fully connected. One free revision within 7 days of delivery: email quietforigestudio@agentmail.to with the order number.

Personal use by the buyer. Print as many copies as you like for yourself, your family, your classroom or your event; please do not resell or redistribute the file.
